

FRANK HERBERT'S DUNE

SPICE HARVESTER PAPERCRAFT

This is the the Spice Harvester from the famous Dune novels created by Frank Herbert.

A Spice Harvester is a large, heavy, mobile factory that is dropped by carrier ships (known as Carryalls) onto spice fields. These machines would then harvest and process the spice, the most precious substance in the universe, off the top of the desert floor. They measure about 120 x 40 meters.

This vision of the Spice Harvester appeared in the 1984 Movie which was distributed by Universal Pictures.

I picked this design of the harvester because it's classic, it's representative, it appeared in the movie and in Dune video games. The original design was modified a little. The vehicle doesn't have wheels anymore, it has tracks to resemble the original description in the novels. The head of the harvester was also enlarged in width. Textures are made by me (except base textures) and they are my personal view of how the harvester looks.

The model is based on the movie Dune (1984). This work is unofficial. The Dune universe is the creations of Frank Herbert. The design of the Spice Harvester is the creation of the 1984 Dune movie producers.

Base textures and fonts are property of their respective owners (pauldesing, wojtar-stock, night-fate-stock, JwJjjoj, uj-stock, Mike Lee, Josh Dixon, John Quijada).
